Governor Favors A Modified Power of Removal

"The getting together of people in these town meetings," said the Governor this morning, "is a good thing for the community. Even if we get together in opposition; for getting together in opposition now means coming together in union before long. Getting together is the thing. Someday this city will be as alive as Seattle. Seattle is a town that owes its great success and rapid growth to local patriotism, something that will carry Honolulu forward with rapid strides before many years have passed."

Referring to a remark made by Attorney Clarence Ashford in a speech at the town meeting in Progress Hall last evening Governor Carter said:

"This administration has no inclination to make use of 'Star Chamber methods.' We want public opinion with us. We are opposed to anything like star chamber tactics."

Replying to a question relative to the mission of attorney F. M. Hatch to Washington, in regard to the ratification of the County Act by Congress, Mr. Carter remarked that it was much easier to raise objections to a proposition than to offer any solution.

"If no action had been taken in relation to the county act business there would doubtless have been strenuous objections and the administration would have been criticized as much if not more," said the Governor. "The meeting of last night accomplished what to the extent of ventilating the various attitudes and getting the people together."

Proceeding, in response to questions, to touch on the important topics of the day the Governor said: "I am glad that the President has carried out his statement concerning our light-houses and that immediate action is to be taken."

"It is indeed gratifying to learn by the press cables that the President reposes such confidence in me as to recommend the bestowing of the power of removal."

"Of course the present situation is impossible. To hold a Governor responsible for the actions of heads of departments he appoints without allowing him the power of removal is certainly impossible. Still, I do not think that a Governor should be granted the absolute power of removal of an officer he has appointed. I think it hardly fair to the appointee. A Governor might remove a man from office for purely political reasons; then, naturally, that man's friends would rally round him and object and the one so removed should by all means have an opportunity to state his side of the case. It would be most unfair to remove a man who was doing good work as a servant of the people. I favor the Governor's power to remove subject to approval of some other authority, subject to the approval of the Secretary of the Interior, for example or of the President himself."

"When I was appointed I called the President that I felt I could not be held responsible for the affairs of the Territory; not having the power to remove and the Treasurer refusing to resign I was naturally in a position not of the pleasantest. I called that I did not desire to become Governor until the field was clear. The President replied that he thought it would be wise for me to go ahead notwithstanding."

"Now I have been waiting several days for a statement of the November finances from the Treasury department. It is not forthcoming and Auditor Fisher informs me that the Treasury office is stalled in its work. I do not know for what reason."

TREASURER'S OFFICE SAYS AUDITOR NOT BEHIND IN WORK

"On the first of November," said Auditor Fisher this morning, "there were nearly $749,000 in warrants outstanding and the Treasury Department has had its hands full as far as clerical work is concerned."

"The Auditor's office usually makes a statement about the seventh of every month, but this month we are a day or two behind that record on account of the impossibility to get all this great mass of warrants on the cash book by the usual time."

"No! It would be absolutely unfair to say that the Treasury Department is behind in its work, because it is not. Election warrants have swelled the usual November lot of warrants and these add materially to the office work."

"Of course, the Auditor's office could make a statement immediately as far as November is concerned, but such a statement would be unsatisfactory and misleading without all warrants for the period appearing in the cash."

"Nearly all of the $749,000 in warrants have been paid, but not all are entered yet in the cash. They will be in a day or two. There were between eight and nine thousand separate warrants to handle."

"The monthly statement is not really late. If it is forthcoming on the 10th it is on time as far as punctuality goes, only we have been in the habit of getting it out earlier. Don't entertain the idea that the Treasury office is behind in its work, for that is by no means the case."

Transport Logan Has Hundreds of Men For Philippine Service

The U. S. Army transport Logan, arriving from San Francisco today rather earlier than expected. She was sighted off Koko Head a little after 10 o'clock and was docked at Naval wharf No. 1, at about 12:30 p. m.

The transport left San Francisco December 1. She experienced a fair passage with the exception of a heavy northerly swell which made the vessel roll a little. Notwithstanding this fact she made good time.

The Logan has a large number of passengers on board, among them are the officers of the 20th Regiment, U. S. Infantry, a number of relatives of officers and civil service employees now in the Philippine service, civil service men, etc.

In the steerage are 621 enlisted men of the 20th U. S. Infantry. It enlisted men of the Marine Corps, a number of men of the Hospital Corps and relatives of privates and non-commissioned officers.

The troops on board are under the command of Colonel William McCaskey. Captain Stinson is still in command of the Logan.

The transport started taking coal at 1 o'clock this afternoon. She is scheduled to sail for Manila via Guam tomorrow at 5 p. m.

The Logan carries the following passengers: Colonel Wm. S. McCaskey, Lieut. Col. Alfred Reynolds, Major J. S. Rogers, Chaplain A. C. Murphy, Captain F. D. Webster, Captain H. J. Hirsch, Captain W. S. not take place Thursday night as had been expected since that was too much going on at that time. The same could be said of Saturday night. He had decided to call the meeting for Friday night.

While Mr. Smith will call the meeting to order by virtue of his having presided at the meeting of last night, the gathering will be purely and simply one under the control of the citizens themselves, the auspices of the Merchants' Association having ceased.

Mr. Smith today named the following committee to draft resolutions:

MOKUAWEOWEO BRIGHT.

The steamer Heine arrived from Hawaii ports this morning at 6:34 o'clock with 60 head of cattle and 8 pigs, sundries.

Purser O'Brien reports as follows: "Mokuawewewo was bright during the night and smoking in the daytime. On November 20 it was too rough to work at Paauhau. The oil steamer Rosecrans arrived at Hilo Dec. 6. Fair weather and smooth sea."

BOUGHT PROPERTY, BORROWED MONEY

The woman of the sealed envelopes has not made good her promise to pay up the money secured on checks given by herself and cashed by certain unsuspecting persons, and it is said that trouble is brewing though nothing has yet been done in the matter of a warrant for her arrest. Yesterday afternoon was the time set for the payment of the money but there was none forthcoming.

One of the dodges of this scheming woman has just come to light. Shortly after her arrival here she went to a real estate agent in the city and "bought" property valued at something like $50,000. She then turned around and borrowed a hundred dollars from the agent himself.

It is said that the woman has "bought" property all over town and borrowed money from different people on the strength of her purchases, but there is no record so far of the consummation of any of these "sales."

Trial of Hakuchi Terayama and Kinshuke Kurihara, alleged importation of Japanese women for purposes of prostitution, is awaiting the securing of a jury in Federal Court. Eleven men are in the box and a special venire for ten has issued to fill the panel.
